ALL THE INTERFSTING BALL NEWS

Netwithstanding the most strengons objections of Manager Ward and President Byrne, of the Brooklyn Baseball Club, about the playing off of postponed games in the scheduled, the contention of the Pittsburg authorities is right. Since the Brooklyn team were here the question has been thoroughly discussed, and President Young has renffirmed his interpretation of the rule, which means that the construction of President Temple and Manager Buckenberger was the correct one.

It will be remembered that the Brooklyn officials argued that a postponed game could be played in "any succeeding series" and claimed that the meaning of that was that the two clubs interested must eventually nerce as to the date of playing off a game. This argument was extremely specious and threatened to have a great influence in the interpretation of the rule. What an Authority Says.

But the official organ of the League, the Sporting Life, comes out definitely on the matter, and, according to that authority, there is no longer any doubt on the question. That authority says: "Mr. Ward's protest against transferring scheduled games is timely and proper. We do not agree with him, however, as to his interpretation of section 45, and believe that President Young's view of the rule is the proper one. The intention of the rule makers was to prevent a recurrence of the damaging double came business of last fall and to put it out of the power henceforth of our one club or a number of clubs to help a leading club to the championship by massing postponed games toward the end of a senson. To accomplish this the playing off of postponed games must be compulsory upon the visiting teams. These latter have more to gain than to lose by evading the play-off of games away from home, and if

on. The result would be a standing menace to the good name of baseball and a continual invitation to a repetition of the deplorable finish to the Association race of 1889 nd of the League race in 1891 "It has also been contended that the words 'or any succeeding series' made it optional with the clubs to play off postoned games at once or later in the season. elieve that the intention of the rule makers was to accord any choice, but simply to provide a means of playing off oned games when they happened to fall so as to prevent playing off in the same series, as, for instance, when the last game of a series is postponed and the visiting club must appear in another city the next ly or consume the time in travel. "But whether the rule be arbitrary or not, it is best to construe it arbitrarily, as President Young has construed at for the reasons set forth above, and for the further reason that to make the double season entirely successful it is important that post-poned games be cleared off as fast as possiple, so as not to lapse into the second sensor, thus affording opportunity for com-plication and dispates."

A GREAT COLLEGE PITCHER.

Jack Highlands, the Young Man Who Has Made Harvard So Strong This Year, Some of the best judges of college baseball were inclined to think Princeton's team almost invincible this year, but as has so often same series in which the game postponed is been proven the case, there is nothing in this world so uncertain as our national game. Princeton instead of having a walk-over has been compelled to take a back seat to but also Harvard, which has developed totally unexpected strength in connection with Jack Highland's masterly pitching. It is exarcely a month since Highland's extraordinary ability began to be recognized. In the earlier contests of the season it was noticed that with a seemingly weak nine, and the majority out of condition, the Harvard's were hard to defeat. As a mutter of course it did not take long for the experts to find that Harvard's main strength lay in the pitcher's box. Highlands was perhaps not the most brilliant twirler on the collect not the most brilliant twirler on the college teams. There was no question that, as far as execution was concerned, the famous Young, of Princeton, must be given first place, but Highlands was one of those cool, deliberate follows who could not be rattled under any circumstances, in which he differed from many o the college pitchers—and when the other fellows batted hardest, there was Highlands all the while, ealm and unperturbed. Of course that sort of thing has had its effect. His very demeanor exasperated and then led to a wholesome lear on the part of his opponents, so that at last they were unable to hit him at all. It is now nothing nusual for Highlands to hold the opposing club down to a meager three or lour hits, a club down to a meager three or tour hits, fact all the more remarkable, since nearly all the college teams are hitting hard this year. It is generally conceded that the con-test lies between Harvard and the Uni-versity of Pennsylvania. When Highlands

SLOW TIME AND A MUDDY TRACK. The Allegheny Land Company Moving Toward the Clubhouse.

NEWS NOTES OF THE AMATEUR SPORTS

Peter Priddy, the local pedestrian, won another match race yesterday and won it easy. He and Joseph Jordan, of Chicago, ran a three-mile race at Recreation Park for $250 a side and the gate receipts. Jordan was allowed $50 to run here and his share of the receipts was 30 per cent. There were about 400 people present, but there certainly would have been about 2,000 had the weather been at all favorable. The two pedestrians were matched some time ago, and as soon as the match was definitely made both went into active training for the contest. Jordan had M. J. Kennedy, the cross-country amateur champion, for his trainer, and Priddy was looked after by his brother Joe. Both Men in Good Trim. The contestants appeared on the mark yesterday. Still, there was nothing to complain much about. He was much more nuscular about the body than Jordan, and before the race was half over this fact told much in favor of the Pittsburger.

The track was a very bad one, the mud being very deep in places. There was comparatively little betting, speculators not being anxious to invest on Jordan, who was an entirely unknown quantity here.
He came here without any record, and patrons of foot running preferred to back a tried and good runner to one they knew nothing of. As a result the betting started $10 to $8 on Priddy; then $25 to $15 was the rate, and finally $2 to $1 was offered with few takers. When the race had fairly started any odds were offered on the local The contestants started off at a slow pace, Priddy allowing the Western man to make the pace. He made awfully slow, and before a half mile had been run it was apparent to experienced men that Jordan

Made the Race Very Slow. He was making the pace slower than any opponent Priddy has met on local grounds.
Jordan was about two yards in front and was allowed to refain the lead until the last quarter of a mile was entered into. At two miles it was clear that Jordan was done for, and it was only by pluck that he kept plodding away. When the last quarter was reached Priddy made an effort and went past his man like a shot. Jordan struggled bravely, but Priddy soon made such a gap between them that the Chicago representative stopped about 300 yards from home and walked in much distressed. Priddy finished full of running. The time was, of course, slow. The first mile was made in 5:29; the second in 11:27, and the third in 17:15.

There is not much to say about the race. Jordan, who is only 20 years old, was com-pletely outclassed, and the judgment of those who matched him against a man like Priddy, was very bad to say the least. Jordan is not a three-mile runner judging from his effort of yesterday, and he would seem to be too slow for a half-mile ped. He is a plucky young fellow and with practice may develop into a tolerably good man.

DELIGHTED AT YALE,

Bob Cook Arrives and Starts to Coach the Varsity Crew.

Yale this morning when it became known on the campus that Bob Cook was in town and proposed to coach the crew for a few

The members of the crew heard the news when they reported at the breakfast table, and about 10 o'clock they were at the boat house and taking their leasons in the doses that no one except Cook knows how to ad-that no one except Cook knows now to administer.

Ex-Captain John Rogers, of the '87 crew, was on hand also, and with his assistance Cook managed to keep the men busy in pair oars until 11 o'clock.

Then they were given an hour's spin in a shell. The men rowed in the following order: Stroke, Pallaudet: No. 7. Ives: 6. Hartwell; 5. Bowes: 4. Paine; 3. Van Hoyck; 2. Ballion; how, Johnson.

Cook don't say much about the men, except that they are improving, and in his opinion, are rowing better than when he saw them last.

He seems to think that the great point is whether or not they have any staying powers, and these have not been tested. Mr. Cook will remain until Sunday.

TO-MORROW'S GREAT RACE.

What the Bookmakers Say and the Entries for the Event. NEW YORK, May 14 .- [Special.]-There is a vast amount of interest in Monday's big race, and those who have money bet on Longstreet will anxiously watch the sky to-morrow. The Dwyers have never won any of the big spring handicaps and there eems to be a sort of fatality about their chances for the Brooklyn and Suburban. Everybody knows that Longstreet cannot run in the mud. Russell will be the favorite for the race, with Longstreet out of the way, and Joe Cotton, the bookmaker, offered today to lay 7 to 5 Longstreet, and 2 to 1 Russell.

It is said that more money had been put np on Cassius than on any other horse in the list. This money, of course, now all goes to the bookmakers. The following was given out late this afternoon as the list of actual starters with their jockeys:

'ittsburg Talent Playing the Jumpers-Captain Brown Likes Judge Morrow. The great Brooklyn Handicap is run off tocorrow at Gravesend, and a more likely lot f jumpers never faced the flag. Pittsburg is keeping up its end as to the betting, and much money is being privately laid on the result and for place. Long-treet seems to have the call among the talent here, but much depends upon his staying qualities, it is thought. Many are backing the long shots, and there may be a surprise in store for the sure thirds people who play the favorites. It has happened time and again that a 20 or 30 to one shot has run away from the lavorite at the drop of the flag and never been headed.

THE Executive Committee of the Overland Jockey Club, of Denver, Col., decided on 15 days' racing, beginning August 1 and continuing until August 17. The races will consist entirely of overnight purses and handleaps. There will be $3,000 per day to be raced for, probably divided into four purse races of $500 each, with a $1,000 handleap each day. During the racing term the Kuights Templar Conciave is held in Denver.

TWENTY-SIX bookmakers drew in on the opening day at Louisville. Half a dozen more were on the ground ready to do business, but the programme looked a little too "corky" to law with and incy kept off. The pencilers who did business at Lexington say they never went against a tignter game. Floating capital was mighty scarce among the people, and nearly all the business the books did was with the sharpshooters, whose money is occeeding by hard to get.
